First Class of Nurses at Queen's New Training School Makes Progress

The training school for nurses recently opened at the Queen's hospital by Miss A. H. Collins, a graduate nurse. Top row (left to right)—Miss Collins, Miss Margaret Davenport, Miss Agnes Schurmann, Miss Lillian Codon. Middle row—Miss Fenella Miles, Miss Nellie Farr, Mrs. Laura Hills. Bottom row—Miss Anna Robinson, Miss Nellie Campbell. Kodagraph Print.

An opportunity to enter the profession of trained nursing is now being offered to women and girls in Hawaii through the medium of a school for nurses which has been opened at the Queen's hospital by Miss A. H. Collins, a graduate nurse. Heartily approval and commendation of the new school, and of Miss Collins' work, is being heard from all sides and, although the training class now has an enrollment of only eight, several other women and girls have expressed their intention of taking the course. It is Miss Collins' idea to have four separate classes of 10 students each. Women and girls who live in Hawaii are to be given the preference, although mainland applicants will be admitted, providing there is room. Ten mainlanders already have applied for the training. The course will last three years, during which time the students will live at the hospital. At the end of the period, if they pass the necessary examinations, the students will receive diplomas entitling them to pursue their vocation in any part of the world, the demand for graduate nurses being heavy.

TUBERCULIN TREATMENT SHOWS GOOD RESULTS AT LEAHI HOME

50 Per Cent of Cases Mastered During Year; Patients Gain in Weight

That the tuberculin treatment of tuberculosis is producing highly satisfactory results in cases at the Leahi Home is the statement made by Dr. A. A. Sinclair in his annual report to the trustees of the institution. The meeting was held yesterday afternoon. Dr. Sinclair bases his statement on figures which show that during the year just ended practically 50 per cent of the patients treated at the home either died, the disease arrested or were enabled to resume their occupations. The term "arrested" is now used instead of the phrase "apparently cured."

Out of 100 cases discharged during the year, 50 were arrested, 25 were apparently cured and 25 were deceased. In five cases, the report says 15 were arrested, 15 apparently arrested, five were quiescent, one was progressive, and one died.

Thirty-nine cases were discharged who had been on tuberculin treatment. These represent the incipient or moderately advanced cases admitted to the home. Out of these 39 cases the report says 15 were arrested, 15 apparently arrested, five were quiescent, one was progressive, and one died.

Big Average Weight Gains. Patients gained in weight under the tuberculin treatment an average of 15 pounds. Only two lost weight, their average being 3.8 pounds. As the best average gain on the mainland has been only 11.4 and these for incipient cases only, the local institution's showing is very good. Mainland tables for all cases show a gain of only 8.75 pounds average.

Dr. Sinclair mentions two new treatments that have been tried to some extent during the year.

Recent home treatment has been tried in cases unsuitable for tuberculin and found very valuable, sometimes transforming cases so that the tuberculin treatment could be taken up. Dr. Kozak's treatment, which consists of the injection of cupra-cynol into the veins, has not given very encouraging results, though the doctor feels this may be due to the fact that it has not been given proper trial in incipient cases.

Need of an X-ray machine is emphasized by the doctor in order to carry out modern methods of diagnosis and treatment. The doctor is planning a trip to Washington and New York in the spring to present a report to the American Association of Immunologists, and to study X-ray work in its most advanced method.

Report of Treasurer. A. W. T. Bottomley, treasurer, presented his report for the year 1915, showing a deficiency for the period of $23.57. Receipts amounted to $52,831.13, and expenditures $52,854.70.

Revenues increased over the year 1914 by $600, but expenses were likewise correspondingly greater as the number of cases increased.

Donorment has increased materially, as shown by the report, and several generous donations have been received. The dairy has saved nearly $100 to the institution. The new Alexander Young memorial building, valued at $11,000, is now practically complete. In concluding his report the treasurer thanks those who have contributed so generously, and those who have assisted by visits and presents.

A total of 202 patients were admitted during the past year, 145 of this number being males and 48 females suffering from tuberculosis, while six males and four females were suffering from incurable diseases.

In the annual business meeting held after the reports had been read, all of the officers were reelected except the secretary, to which position C. R. Hemmaway was elected, filling the place of E. A. R. Ross, resigned.

REAL TORPEDOES WILL BE FIRED AT DREAM SHIPS

Target Practice for Submarines at 4000-Yard Range to Begin Next Tuesday

Tuesday morning of next week should see the four boats of the third submarine division hard at work sinking imaginary foes with genuine torpedoes, as on that date, February 1, open-sea torpedo practice, probably off Pearl Harbor, is scheduled to be resumed.

Lieut. H. D. Bode, commanding the K-7, said this week that the practice, which with good weather will require about two weeks of time, will be at 4000 yards range. The K boats have been doing good work at shorter distances, using the surface of Pearl Harbor as their range. Lieut. J. P. Oldine, commanding the division, hopes for a cessation of the kona gales which have raged recently.

The Alert should be off drydock some time today or early Monday morning, and it is expected that she will leave at once for Pearl Harbor, her regular base, accompanied by her "babies," as waterfront officials have dubbed the submarines.

The submarine tender has been in the inter-island drydock this week, having one side of her hull sand-blasted to remove scale and dirt which has accumulated since the last time she was given this treatment.
